“Making Plans for Nigel”

Euro-sceptic Parties across Europe are on the rise, and since the Euro crisis their calls for reform of or even exit from the European Union have gained more prominence.

UKIP shocked political commentators in 2013 with their huge rise in the opinion polls and successes in local elections across England.

Boston was a prime example in the Lincolnshire County Council elections. Detailed research, analysing political factors, demographics and media has been done by Brendan Clarke-Smith who is a Conservative Party Candidate in the European Elections on 22nd May 2014.
